There is History in the . .
Directory Publishing Business

It takes over a Century for a Directory to grow to the Impressiveness of the Cambridge City Directory of 1946.

It is a privilege to have a task such as producing the City Directory and History of the Citizens of Cambridge in this, the 100th Anniversary of the founding of Cambridge as a city. The progress made since 1846 is so tremendous, and the fame of our city has grown so great that we feel our responsibility in representing it with a worthy Directory.

Fitting ourselves for the position of compilers and publishers has taken more than 40 years of intensive experience. The following data shows our growth since 1905, and our preparation for just such a job as the

A Public Service Organization for Information about Communities and Their Peoples

"Firsts" IN CAMBRIDGE

A city is rated by its accomplishments in a material way, as well as in the ways of growth, expansion and AGE. It is worth recording from the records of the Harvard Trust Company that Cambridge has been in the forefront of progress all through its history as a city, and also as a community.

Some of the Outstanding "FIRSTS" that are worth enumerating are . .

1637 —HARVARD COLLEGE (Now University) established at Newtowne (Cambridge). Named after John Harvard who sacrificed much for it.

1638 —PRINTING. Stephen Daye set up the press brought here by the widow Elizabeth Glover, and produced the first American book in 1640 in Cambridge, and the first American Bible in 1663.

1800 —VACCINATION. Dr. Benjamin Waterhouse inoculated his five year old son with vaccine in Cambridge. President Jefferson accepted vaccination in 1801.

1820 —COMMERCIAL VARNISH. Franklin Houghton and David McClure discovered formula which is now universally used.

1827 —PRESSED GLASS. Enoch Robinson made the first piece of pressed glassware in America on April 20.

1845 —SEWING MACHINE. Elias Howe and George Fisher were granted a patent September 10, 1846 which brought fame and wealth to Howe.

1850 —TELESCOPE. Alvan Clark, the inventor, together with his two sons, acquired international honors. They brought fame to Cambridge.

1861 —CIVIL WAR. The first volunteer company of the Civil War was recruited by James P. Richardson, and on April 17, two days after President Lincoln asked for volunteers, left for the front with 97 men.

1876 —TELEPHONE. In common with sister city of Boston Cambridge shares the honor of the first telephonic conversation ever held. Thomas A. Watson was at the Cambridge office of Walworth Mfg. Co. when he talked with Alexander Graham Bell in Boston.

The above are outstanding of course but Cambridge has many other accomplishments to her credit, though they may not be Firsts. Today Cambridge stands first in New England in Education, third in industry, eighth in population, second in printing, second in transportation.

CAMBRIDGE

The University City, the Home City, Industrial and Transportation Center, Merchandising and Financial Center

Compiled by H. A. Manning Company, with Assistance of Cambridge Chamber of Commerce

The publishers of this Directory consider it advisable and desirable to set forth the following paragraphs, in as simple and attractive a manner as possible, to enable the readers of these descriptive pages to comprehend as many of the outstanding features of Cambridge as limited space permits. The local resident, the visitor, and the distant reader about Cambridge wishes to gain an impression of Cambridge as well as to have at hand a statistical reference regarding the city and its people. It is the publisher's aim to portray as much of Cambridge's charm and greatness as is consistent with facts. We believe with John Cotton Dana, the great librarian, that "Good citizenship springs from a knowledge about one's own community." The teachings of the City Map and the City Directory about localities, districts, street locations, street changes, growth of sections, and general city changes are of great importance to property owners, old residents, new residents, and school students. Racial characteristics of names in the Directory enable the consultant to gain a very comprehensive knowledge of the inhabitants of the city and many other educational facts. Notable men all through history have contributed their philosophy on the value of knowledge about the "home town." Here is one from Abraham Lincoln: "I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives. I like to see a man live so that his place will be proud of him." In studying the following, remember that the Cambridge City Directory disseminates this information far and wide where this Directory represents Cambridge in the Free Directory Library Exchange System of North America. The Cambridge City Directory, with over 1,000 closely printed pages, is the City of Cambridge in book form; its family and social life, business and industrial life, is portrayed in great detail. The publishers invite and accept constructive criticism and suggestions for the improvement of the Directory for the benefit of Cambridge and all interested.

LOCATION—Cambridge is known world-wide as "The University City." It is, however, much more than an educational city. It has 500 industries and is a great warehousing center for merchandise. It is one of the leading transportation centers of this section of the country. Cambridge is very near to the center of the Metropolitan District of Massachusetts and is bound on the South by the Charles River and Brighton Section of Boston; the West by Watertown and Belmont; on the North and East by Arlington, Somerville and Charlestown. The distance is 4 miles from the center of the Boston business district to the Central Square district of Cambridge. Distances to important points in Eastern United States are as follows: Portland 104 miles, Concord 72, Hartford 110, Providence 42, Worcester 40, New Bedford 65, Lowell 32, Bangor 246, Springfield 93, Greenfield 98, Burlington 277, Albany 179, Schenectady 194, New York 220, Philadelphia 310, Atlantic City 356, Washington 451, Buffalo 467, White Mountains 160, Elmira 368, Cape Cod 70, Bar Harbor 271, Montreal 320, Chicago 1025, Boston Harbor 5.

POPULATION—The Sixteenth U. S. Census (1940) shows the population of Cambridge to be 110,879; 1945 census 111,124, the 1946 estimate 112,000. The trend of population since 1790 is as follows: 1790, 2,115; 1800, 2,453; 1810, 2,523; 1820, 3,295; 1830, 6,072; 1840, 8,409; 1850, 15,215; 1860, 26,060; 1870, 39,634; 1880, 52,669; 1890, 70,028; 1900, 91,886; 1910, 104,839; 1920, 109,694; 1930, 113,643. The total colored population at present is 5,419. American born population 78%. Predominating nationalities of foreign born residents are English, Scotch, Irish, Italian, Portugese, Polish, French Canadian descent. The total white population is currently estimated at 111,000; native 78,000; foreign born 33,000. Number of families, 27,448. Dwellings, 15,014. Population per family, 4.05. Population per dwelling, 7.41. Population within 25 miles, 3,000,000; 45 miles, 4,300,000.

TOPOGRAPHY—Much of Cambridge lies North of the Charles River Basin which it borders for 4 miles. This Basin has been greatly improved and beautified with parkways along its shores adding distinction and charm to the city. The city occupies 6.535 square miles and is 4¾ miles East and West and 2 1/5 miles North and South. The maximum altitude above sea level is 77 feet. There is scarcely a foot of land in Cambridge that cannot be developed for city use. There are many fine residence streets with beautiful homes and apartment buildings and, in Cambridge, homes can be found to fit all pocketbooks. There are many fine streets traversing the city and many great arteries of travel pass through Cambridge.

VIEW OF HARVARD SQUARE SECTION OF CAMBRIDGE NORTHWARD

HISTORICAL—Cambridge was settled in 1630. It was incorporated a city in 1846, original shire town of Middlesex County, and houses the County Offices of Administration. There is much of interest to the lover of history in Cambridge, which calls to mind some verse by Oliver Wendell Holmes:

"Know Old Cambridge? Hope you do.
Born there? Don't say so! I was too.
The nicest place that ever was seen,
College red and Common green,
Sidewalks brownish with trees between."

It might prove worth while to translate this into Modern Cambridge logic, thus:

"Know NEW Cambridge? Hope you do.
In business there? I am too!
The busiest place you ever have known!
Industry, business, and commerce have grown
Modern Cambridge, we're proud of you."

In between the periods that represent the above verses is an intensely interesting transition of a good old New England town, with its college atmosphere built around Harvard University of 300 years ago, to a modern great city with its 41 private educational institutions, over 500 industries and 1500 merchandising outlets. It can properly be said that the history of Cambridge should begin at the Old Burying Ground at Harvard Square. Visualizing from this point the small beginnings of this city is easy if one has the time. There are many historical markers in Cambridge of which we can only mention a few for lack of space:—

1. Fort Washington, foot of Allston Street near Charles River.
2. Site of Fort No. 1 where Riverside Press now stands on Blackstone Street.
3. Site of Fort No. 2 on left hand side of Putnam Avenue below Franklin Street, built 1775 by order of George Washington.
4. Site of Inman House, Inman Street near City Hall. General Putnam had headquarters in 1775 in house which stood here.
5. Apthorpe House, Bishop Place, between Plympton and Linden Streets, built in 1760: General Burgoyne and staff officers confined here as prisoners of war in 1777.
6. Site of first school house in Cambridge, Holyoke St, first school house built in 1648.
7 Site of Governor Dudley House, Northwest corner Dunster and South Streets. The founder of Cambridge and Governor of Massachusetts lived here in 1630.
8. John Hicks House, Southeast cor Dunster and Winthrop St, built 1762. Hicks was killed by British soldiers April 9, 1775 and the house was used as Army office by General Putnam.
9. Site of first meeting house in Cambridge, Southwest corner Dunster and Mt. Auburn Streets. Erected 1632.

10. Site of Spreading Chestnut Tree, Brattle near Story Street where village smithy stood, made famous in Longfellow's poem.

11. Washington Elm, Garden corner Mason Street. Washington took command American Army under this tree July 3, 1775.

12. Cambridge Common where centers much of the early history of this section. Cannon marker for guns used by Continental Army in siege of Boston during American Revolution.

There are hundreds of other markers and historic spots most of which are recorded by the Cambridge Historical Society.

As Cambridge took a leading place in the making of history in the early days of America it is so doing today at an accelerated pace. In the summer and fall of 1936 Harvard University held its Tercentenary Celebration, entertaining visitors from all over the world. Visitors to Cambridge of a quarter century ago would hardly recognize it today because of its modernization in streets, boulevards, parks, buildings and mode of transportation. In some ways it stands first among New England's cities and combining all its advantages it can be said to rank among the leading cities of this section of the country.

INDUSTRIAL—Industry has not superseded education in Cambridge. It is still a University City to a greater extent than ever before. Industry has, however, replaced education as the most prominent characteristic of the city. Industry is not new to Cambridge. The only thing new is its tremendous growth, and its position among New England cities as the third in industry. Industry in Cambridge is almost as old as education. Here the first printing press in the colonies operated, the birth of the great publishing industry of America was here; the first center aisle passenger coach was produced here. Great glassware factories employed 500 as early as 1850. Modern transportation and the reclamation of 2 square miles of tide-covered lowlands in the city are two factors that have had much to do with the growth of industrial Cambridge. The transition to an industrial city began in the 1870's when the reclaiming of the lowlands began. Owing to World War II definite figures on industry are mostly estimates, the following are substantially correct: over 500 establishments employing 34,000, with annual wages paid of $28,000,000, with products annually of $160,000,000 for 1944. It stands first in the country as a confectionery center, and prominent in manufacture of soap, bread and other bakery products, printing, publishing, rubber goods, rubber boots, shoes, electrical machinery, apparatus and supplies, foundry machine shop products; furniture. Also producing dictionaries, transformers, radio apparatus, oil burners, radio sets and many other products among which are as follows:

This is an impressive list. The reclaimed land from the lowlands of the city of 40 years ago still offers opportunities for further industrial expansion. Cambridge can double its present industrial output and bids fair to do so in the next score of years. Cambridge has everything to work with in labor market, transportation, and facilities. There is a customer market of 30,000,000 within 500 miles to consume the products made in Cambridge. For further information write the publishers of this Directory, or the Cambridge Industrial Commission.

MERCANTILE—The retail trade area of Cambridge is very competitive. Within 5 miles of the center of the retail district is a 250,000 customer district which is rapidly growing in population. The wholesale territory covers more than 2,000,000 population. There are 1,494 retail establishments employing 5,600; with 1,258 proprietors. The annual payroll is $6,000,000. The annual business transacted is $50,000,000. There are 17 major groups of retail distribution. Cambridge stands fifth among Massachusetts cities per capita of retail trade. There are 170 wholesale establishments with 2650 employees receiving annual wages of $4,637,000. Annual sale $65,935,000. Total retail and wholesale annual business $115,935,000. The retail distribution of Cambridge is split up into two principal districts of Central Square and Harvard Square located on Massachusetts Avenue about one mile apart. There are lesser districts at Kendall Square, Inman Square, Porter Square, Putnam Square and Lechmere Square; also much business for some miles along Massachusetts Avenue which is gradually developing to make this Avenue a great retail shopping thoroughfare.

Cambridge is also well supplied with playgrounds under the competent supervision of instructors. During the college season, Cambridge has an intense athletic atmosphere with all college sports competition including boat raceson the Charles River. Football reaches its peak each year in late October and early November. Cambridge shares with the Metropolitan District its immense recreational facilities and it seems safe to say that no city of same size has more recreational opportunities than Cambridge. There are more than 100 cities and towns to compete with in school sports and all located within a distance of 60 miles. The beaches of the nearby shore resorts are easily accessible; the New England "Playground of the Nation" is in all directions, including summer and winter out-of-door pastimes.

MEMORIAL DRIVE

RAILROAD YARDS AND CAMBRIDGE PORT OF ENTRY

TRANSPORTATION—Cambridge has the service of two divisions of the Boston & Maine Railroad system and through interconnecting tracks the freight service of the Boston & Albany and the New Haven Railroad systems. The freight service over these rail lines is adequate to meet the needs of this large shipping center. Through the East Boston Airport there is local and transcontinental air service. Cambridge is headquarters for many large motor truck lines plying in all directions. There are many main highway arteries leading in all directions. Cambridge shares with all cities of the Metropolitan District the harbor with its coast and ocean shipping vessels. Cambridge has been a port of entry since 1814; it is bordered by the Charles River and intersected by several canals; there is a growing volume of water borne commerce. Highways Nos. U. S. 1 and 3 and Mass. 2 and 28 are through routes to mountain, lake, shore and country, as well as the hinterland.

The Centennial of Cambridge as a City

1846 — 1946

IT comes to us as a duty and a privilege to record some facts in connection with the anniversary of 100 Years a City that Cambridge celebrates in 1946. We know that since the birth of this famous city the Directory has faithfully recorded the names of its citizens, its institutions and industries. That approaches the nearest to a real history of any human effort but it is also necessary to recognize by special observances that Cambridge is growing older as a community, and to make it impressive while so doing.

In 1630 the town of Cambridge had its beginning. In 1846 a city charter was obtaine In the beginning of Cambridge the name was Newtowne. In 1638 the name of Cambridge wa approved by the General Court. In 1896 the 50th anniversary of Cambridge as a city was hel with appropriate exercises and speeches by illustrious men of that time. In 1921 the 75t anniversary was observed. In 1946, we believe it is agreed by all that Cambridge has this 100t anniversary proudly proclaimed herself by the character of this observance.

As the foregoing pages of this Directory tell the story of modern Cambridge in 1946, w confine ourselves mostly to recording the exercises, and some views of the celebration.

After nine days of glorious events, with weather favorable all through it, the end of the celebration came to a close with all the populace tired but happy. The enormous task of planning and directing such an event is apparent from a glance at the program. Those who participated will probably never do so for any future anniversary, but a new generation will carry on, inspired by what this generation did, and we hope that we can preserve for them in these pages the program of events and this milestone in the history of Cambridge.

THE GRAND PARADE

The outstanding event of this anniversary celebration was the grand parade of July 4, consisting of seven divisions, assembling on Memorial Drive at 2:30 p. m. The start was made promptly with favorable weather. The route was down Massachusetts Avenue to Cambridge Common via Lafayette, Central, Putnam, Quincy and Harvard Squares. The Reviewing Stand at Garden Street on Cambridge Common side opposite Appian Way. In Reviewing Stand officially were the Mayor of Cambridge, City Council, Governor of Massachusetts, and many distinguished guests, including Gold Star kin and Wounded Veterans.

Distinguished guests headed by General Courtney H. Hodges follow the 82nd Airborne Division platoon through Central Square in the monster Centennial parade. Over 200,000 persons lined the streets from M. I. T. to the Cambridge Common cheering and applauding as the colorful spectacle passed in review. For more than three hours the 15,000 marchers, 35 musical units, marching veterans, civic groups, industrial floats and municipal division thrilled the watchers.

Giant stage in Harvard Stadium showing the four "Pillars of Power" (patriotism, religion, education and industry), which have made Cambridge great. The above scene is the finale of the brilliant Centennial Pageant in which 2500 Cambridge men, women and children participated for four successive evenings. This depiction of three hundred years of Cambridge history was one of the highlights of the nine-day celebration.

CAMBRIDGE CENTENNIAL SONG

Words by
Theodora Downs—C. H. L. S. '46

Music by
Maudeline Beckles, C. H. L. S., '46

By the waters of the Charles River,
From elm-shaded lanes
Great a city, great in size,
That esteem attains,
Now our song gives praise to her this day.
Cambridge, honored be,
City fair, with gifts most rare,
Praise to thee!

Many people living here, working,
Make her greater still.
Molding,building strengthining her
By their power and will;
Now her industry is known widely.
Cambridge, honored be,
City fair, with gifts most rare,
Praise to thee!

Home of culture and of wide learning,
Generous to all;
Knowledge, letters, names renowned
Answer to her call;
To the world she's given all freely.
Cambridge, honored be,
City fair, with gifts most rare,
Praise to thee!

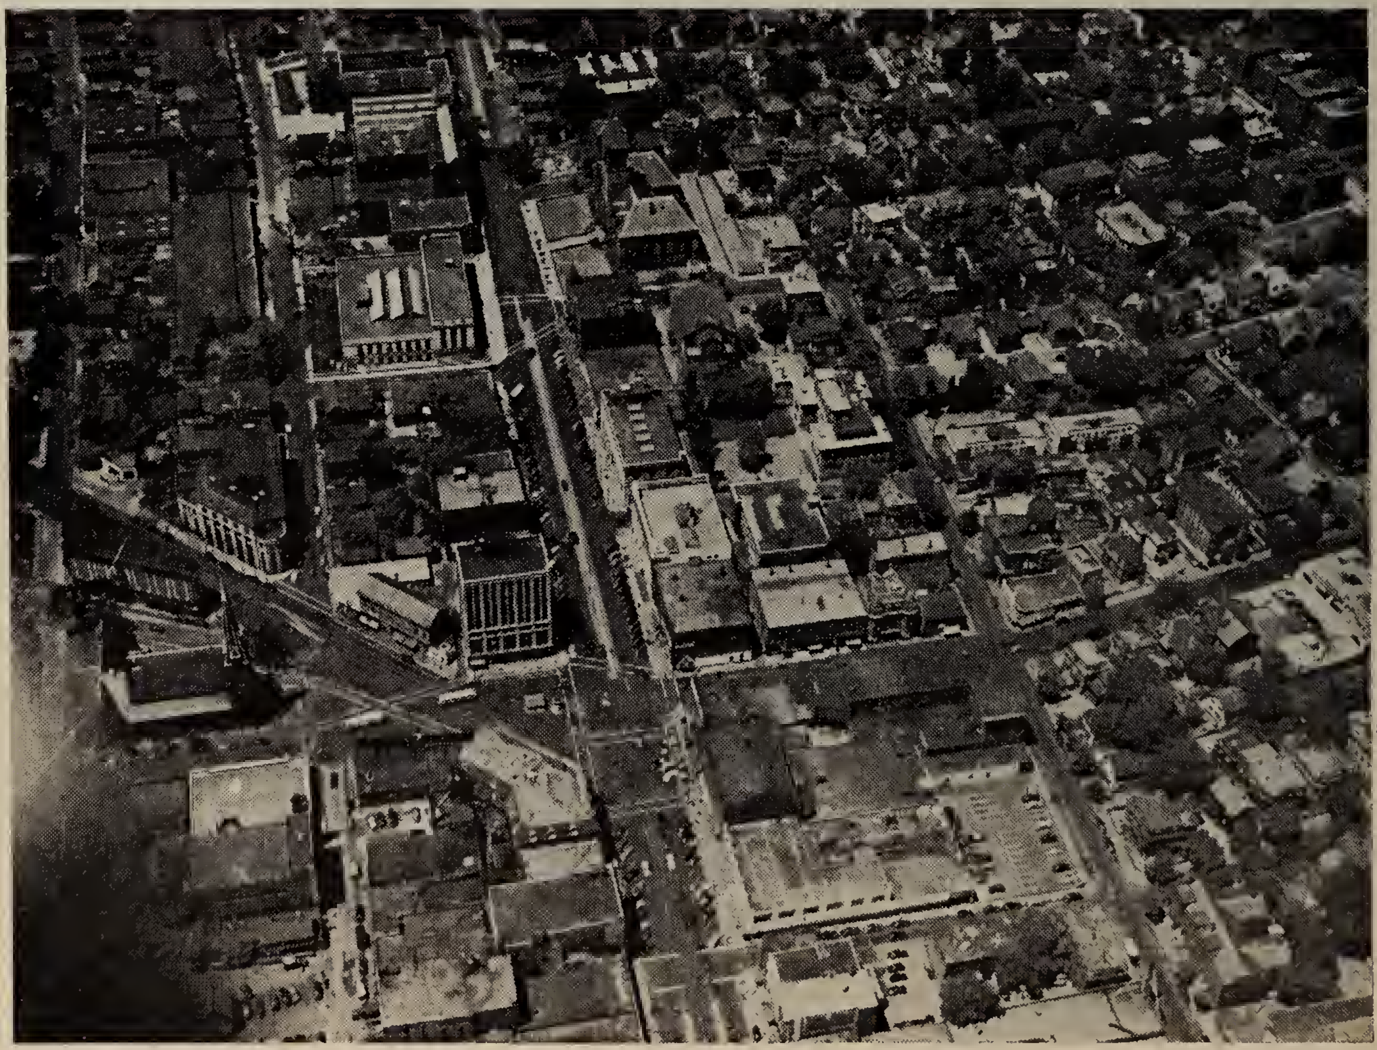
CAMBRIDGE FROM THE AIR

Modern Cambridge is represented in pictures following. Within the next few years it is estimated that great changes in this city will occur, with the planned building of industrial structures costing over $6,000,000, and as many more million in educational structures. It now looks as if 1946 was only a milestone in the physical features of Cambridge, municipally, industrially and institutionally.



CENTRAL SQUARE Photo by CARLETON PATRIQUIN

One of the principal shopping centers of the city. City Hall and Main Post Office, and many office buildings, banks, stores and social structures are located here. One of the Subway stations is located here and connects with the Greater Metropolitan area and fast transportation.

An important center in the long Massachusetts Avenue which begins at the Charles River Bridge and continues for some four miles to the western city limits. Harvard Square focuses the educational, trade and social life of Harvard University, Radcliffe College, many stores, offices, banks, office buildings, dormitories, churches, hotels, apartment structures. It is attractive in a cultural way. A subway station is located here.

One of the busiest traffic intersections is shown in this striking aerial photo . . . Recently renamed Callanan Square by the City Council, this is the square where Somerville and Cambridge traffic merges . . . The Inman Square fire station can be distinguished by the white markings on the bell tower and the six exits for apparatus . . . The intersection links Harvard and Lechmere points via Cambridge Street, and Porter Square and Kendall Square, via Beacon and Hampshire Streets.

MODERN MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

Cambridge is an old city with modern ideas in municipal government.

For more than three centuries—since 1630—the community on the banks of the Charles River now known as Cambridge has contributed in full measure to the growth of New England and the nation.

Today, surrounding communities and the nation still look to Cambridge for leadership and in keeping with the long established tradition of being first in many things Cambridge has again been a pioneer in adopting a modern, businesslike form of municipal government.

In 1940, Cambridge was the first municipality in Massachusetts to adopt a city charter which provides for the Councillor-City Manager form of government.

The decision of the electorate immediately focused national attention on this world-famous community. The accomplishments of this form of government are still commanding the attention of the nation and have been acclaimed by proponents of good government as worthy of imitation.

Home-owners and industry in every community are always interested in good municipal government because they pay the bills. Cambridge folk are no different than residents of any other community, but they are more fortunate.

Cambridge home owners and industrialists are getting good municipal services at progressively reduced costs while other communities are faced with increasing tax rates.

Let the record speak for itself.

These are the tax facts presented to the Cambridge real estate and home owner by Colonel John B. Atkinson, City Manager:

"Your 1946 tax rate is $35.80 per thousand, a reduction of ten cents from the 1945 figure. A small decrease to be sure, but it is a reduction, accomplished in the face of mounting costs of which you are well aware.

"Rigid economies and careful scrutiny of all expenditures have made possible for the fifth consecutive year a dividend to you in the form of a tax reduction.

"The tax reduction now amounts to $10.50 per thousand from your 1941 tax rate.

"We continue for the fifth consecutive year our 'pay-as-we-go' policy inaugurated in 1942. No new long term debt has been authorized since 1941 and we have reduced the City's funded debt from $10,161,500 at the end of 1941 to $3,430,000 at the end of 1946. This represents a reduction of 66.3% in the funded debt—a worth-while accomplishment despite rising costs."

Cambridge has always done more than its share for the nation in war and peace. Cambridge glories in its historic past, but Cambridge looks to the future.

A comprehensive two-year study by municipal officers and expert City Planners resulted in a well thought out program of post war plans for Cambridge.

In presenting this program to the people of Cambridge, City Manager Atkinson sounded the keynote of the future for the University City when he said:

"Cambridge is entering a new era of life. It is not merely a transition from war to peace, nor should it be called a resumption of the peace era which existed prior to Pearl Harbor.

"Approximately one-seventh of its entire population, which included almost 100 per cent of its young men,served in the armed forces in all parts of the world. These men have returned to Cambridge with many new ideas for civic life and many of their suggestions will prove useful in this new era of the post war period."

Cambridge has had a great and glorious past—it looks forward to a greater future.

Cambridge is world renowned as an educational center and in keeping with such an enviable tradition maintenance of high standards in public, elementary and secondary schools is accepted municipal policy. Schools are conveniently located in all sections of the city. Graduates of the two public high schools have maintained high scholastic standings in local and other colleges or universities.

In the administration of the municipal recreation program a particular effort is made to reach all age groups by offering a variety of activities for both outdoors and indoors. Pre-school children receive as much attention in program planning as do the high school boys in active sports. Community activities in the form of neighborhood social evenings, dances and card parties add joy to winter evenings.

Youth Will Be Served

Cambridge has 38 parks not including parkways, and valued at $1,865,380, also 3 bathing beaches and 1 golf course. Cambridge is also well supplied with playgrounds under the competent supervision of instructors. During the school season, Cambridge has an intense athletic atmosphere with all school and college sports competition including boat races on the Charles River. Cambridge shares with the Metropolitan District its immense recreational facilities and it seems safe to say that no city of same size has more recreational opportunities than Cambridge.

Modern fire-fighting equipment with trained fire fighters under capable leadership has given the City of Cambridge a fire department surpassed by none. Low fire losses and corresponding low fire insurance rates attest to the efficiency of the Cambridge Fire Department. The municipal policy of keeping up to the minute with latest fire-fighting techniques and modern equipment has paid dividends.

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE
MASSACHUSETTS
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

JOHN B. ATKINSON
CITY MANAGER

Cambridge has been known for over three centuries as the educational center of America, but only in the last fifty years has full recognition come to it as Massachusetts' second largest industrial city, wherein 24,000 workers engaged in over 400 industrial plants have a yearly payroll in excess of $40,000,000.

In an era when municipal taxes have been constantly on the rise, Cambridge has been wise enough to reduce its taxes by almost 25%, a reduction of $10.50 per thousand dollars.

The war proved that Cambridge was a reservoir of skilled technical workers, whose talents were available for wartime production and now are available for peace time prosperity. Located centrally on two great railroads and with over a score of New England's largest trucking companies making their headquarters in Cambridge, the industrialist is guaranteed excellent transportation facilities, as well as a good supply of skilled workmen.

Cambridge cordially invites inspection of its sites and resources to the industrialist seeking a new location. Since V-J Day almost $20,000,000 worth of new building has been planned in this area and there is still room for more.

Cambridge extends not only a hearty welcome to new industry, but gives it the assurance of location in a well governed city, well located for distribution purposes and with ample skilled labor available.

The large number of America's most important research firms who have within the past decade located in Cambridge gives the manufacturer an assurance that many of his research problems can be quickly solved if placed in the hands of local scientists and research men.

Very truly yours,
John B. Atkinson

These noble edifices placed at intervals about the city add much to its attractiveness and charm.

It is the belief of many Cambridge citizens of vision that this full and adequate supply of churches is one of the greatest of the many resources of our city.

That for newcomers it is a factor that makes for the ready assimilation into the religious and social life of the community and hastens the time required to make citizens of the strangers who come to us.

The Church of today is the greatest of all institutions for the planting of good thoughts in the minds of the people and stands as the bulwark against the degrading influences that surround us.

Therefore, let us give a thought to these institutions that form so great a part of our city life and in visualizing our future greatness, let us remember their value as

A Factor for Progress

Christ Church was organized in 1759 for Church of England families living in Cambridge. The Church building was designed by Peter Harrisson of Yorkshire. The church was opened for services on October 15, 1761 and a few years later was occupied by the Continental Troops, during the battle of Lexington. In 1857, the church was enlarged to its present size.

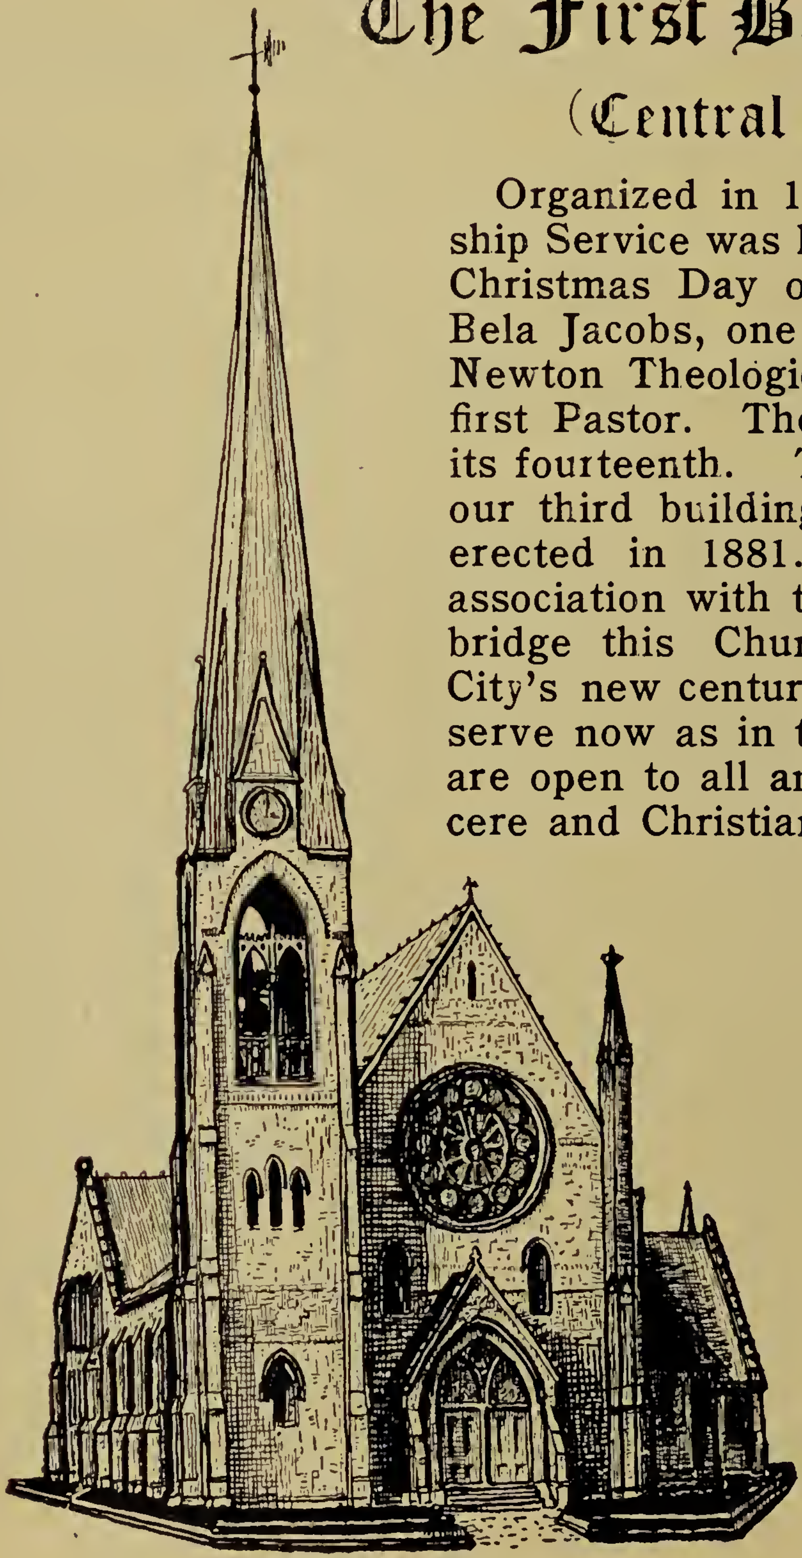
The First Baptist Church

(Central Square)



Organized in 1817, the first Worship Service was held on this spot on Christmas Day of that year. Rev. Bela Jacobs, one of the founders of Newton Theological School, was its first Pastor. The present pastor is its fourteenth. The present edifice, our third building on this site, was erected in 1881. Out of its long association with the history of Cambridge this Church comes to the City's new century with a desire to serve now as in the past. Its doors are open to all and its welcome sincere and Christian.

Industrial Cambridge

Industry in Cambridge is almost as old as education. Here the first printing press in the Colonies started, and the birth of the great publishing industry was here. The first center aisle passenger coach was produced here. Great glassware factories employed 500 as early as 1850.

RAILROADS SERVE INDUSTRY IN CAMBRIDGE

As an industrial center Cambridge is in the pioneer class. At the very beginning of the settlement of the Colonies industry settled along the Charles River to take advantage of water transportation facilities.

As Cambridge took a leading place in the making of history in the early days of America it is so doing today at an accelerated pace, and today its industrial greatness is not to be denied. Cambridge ranks third in industry among the cities of New England.

The rapid advance of Cambridge industrially came with improvement in transportation, and the reclamation of two square miles of tide covered low lands in the city. These two factors have had much to do with the growth of industrial Cambridge. The transition to an Industrial City began in 1870, when the reclaiming of the low lands began. There are now nearly 500 manufacturing concerns employing nearly 22,000 workers, and having an annual wage disbursement of nearly $40,000,000. The products amount to $185,000,000 per annum. Cambridge stands first in the country as a confectionery center, and very prominent in the manufacture of soap, bread and other bakery products, printing and publishing, rubber goods, rubber boots and shoes, electrical machinery, apparatus and supplies, foundry and machine shop products, furniture, dictionaries, transformers and radio apparatus, oil burners and over 500 other products which are too numerous to be mentioned in this limited space. For further details on products see page 10.

Cambridge offers great advantages to industrialists. It has everything to work with in labor market, transportation and facilities. There is a customer market of 30 million within 500 miles. Water transportation will deliver Cambridge-made products to Pacific coast and Mississippi River points at a lower rate than land transportation of 500 miles.

For further information about Industrial Cambridge write the Cambridge Chamber of Commerce, or the Publishers of this Directory.

In Eczema or whenever coal tar therapy is indicated.

SUPERTAH (NASON'S) "has proven as valuable as the black coal tar preparations"

Swartz & Reilly, "Diagnosis and Treatment of Skin Diseases" p. 66

SUPERTAH is WHITE — not black — so hardly noticeable on the skin.

Easy to remove. Will not stain or discolor skin, bedding, clothing. No tarry odor.

Non-irritating and non-pustulant; can be left on indefinitely with no fear of dermatitis.

Patients use SUPERTAH willingly — freed from the objectionable features of black coal tar ointments.

SUPERTAH (NASON'S) is distributed ethically in 2-oz. jars (in 5% or 10% strength)

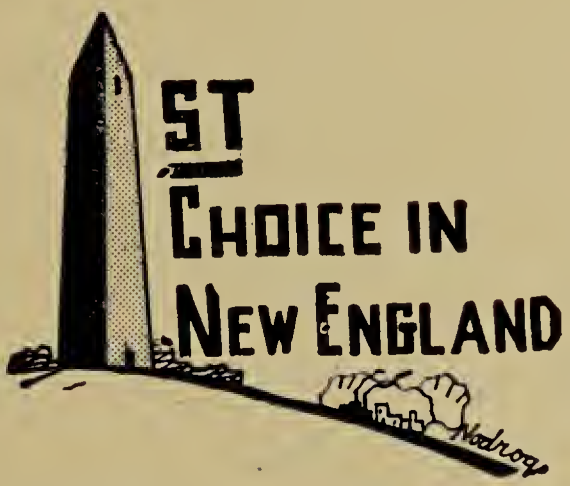
The Mortality of Advertising

The waste basket is the grave of millions of dollars of advertising every year. Keep your advertisement before the public by using a medium that is not thrown away—

The City Directory

Thousands of references are made each day during the entire life of the City Directory. Your advertisement is always there because you buy—

Advertising Permanence



ONE MONUMENTAL newspaper preference dominates the Boston scene—The Boston Post—"The Great Breakfast-Table Paper of New England."

One of the largest morning newspapers in the nation, The Post has been the No. 1 Boston paper in daily sales every day, every year, as far back as the records go—over 30 years.

Such constant leadership in reader-interest and in reader-responsiveness to the good-neighbor services of The Boston Post, daily and Sunday, is a splendid recommendation to all new readers of tomorrow—and a matchless ingredient for tomorrow's advertising.

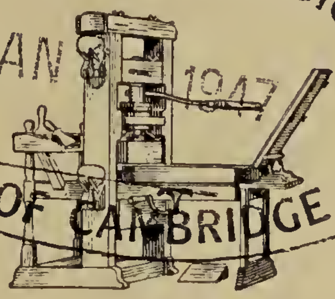
ELECTION COMMISSION
JAN 1 1947
CITY OF CAMBRIDGE

The Stephen Daye Press



Established 1639

Publishing and Printing in Industrial Cambridge

INDUSTRY IN CAMBRIDGE is almost as old as education in this country. Here, a few years after the Pilgrims landed on our shores, the first printing press was started. The Reverend Jose Glover sailed from England with a printing press in 1638. He was accompanied by his wife and a mechanic with two sons. Unfortunately, he died on the way over, but Mrs. Glover on arrival bought a house, married President Dunster of Harvard, and wedded the college to the printing press.

The mechanic, Stephen Daye, set up the press and his son, Matthew, aged 18, became the first printer in America. Here was produced the first American book, printed in 1640, the first American Bible, in 1663.

The history of printing and its activities in Cambridge is enormous, and shows that as a center of the art the city has no rival of its size in the world. The civilizing and educating influence thus created can hardly be exaggerated.

ATHENEUM PRESS of GINN & CO. is prominent among the great establishments in Cambridge. Founded in 1867 by Edward Ginn, this publishing house whose plant in Cambridge is the largest in the world devoted exclusively to the printing of school and college textbooks employs over 700 people.

LITTLE, BROWN & CO. a famous publishing name, has their plant, The Riverside Bindery, in Cambridge. It was founded in 1851 in a small wooden structure which was originally the old Almshouse. Their modern plant for the binding of their publications employs over 100 craftsmen.

RIVERSIDE PRESS, of HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN CO.

is one of the largest of its kind in the world. Founded by H. O. Houghton in 1852, it employs today over 700 people and has a daily average production of 18,000 volumes of literary importance and educational value. One of its important activities for 80 years has been the printing of the authorized G. C. Merriam Webster's Dictionary. The plant in Cambridge prints and binds the literary and educational books that have made these two names famed in these fields.

UNIVERSITY PRESS is a revered institution of Cambridge whose roots go back to Pilgrim days. In 1638, the Reverend Jose Glover came from England to found a printing press in the new country. He brought with him Stephen Daye,and they established the press in the home of Henry Dunster, first president of Harvard. It was later owned by Harvard College and in 1802 became the University Press. Over the years the press has had many changes of ownership. The Welch Bigelow Co. period being 1802-1879, and John Wilson & Son, 1879-1895. In 1896 Herbert H. White became owner and manager and at that time built the present building. In 1929 new management took over the press as University Press, Inc., continuing the fine heritage to the present time. Book printing and fine commercial work are carried on with the most modern machinery, equipment, and personnel.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY PRESS maintained for and by the college, is an outgrowth of the original purpose of the University Press. Its field of publication of technical and limited edition works is an important contribution to education and science.

Too numerous to record, the many other printing and publishing houses of Cambridge help the city hold a position of leadership in the industry with over 60 firms employing over 3000 people.

Thus printers ink with all its associated arts and service occupies a large part in the industrial fame and prestige of Cambridge.

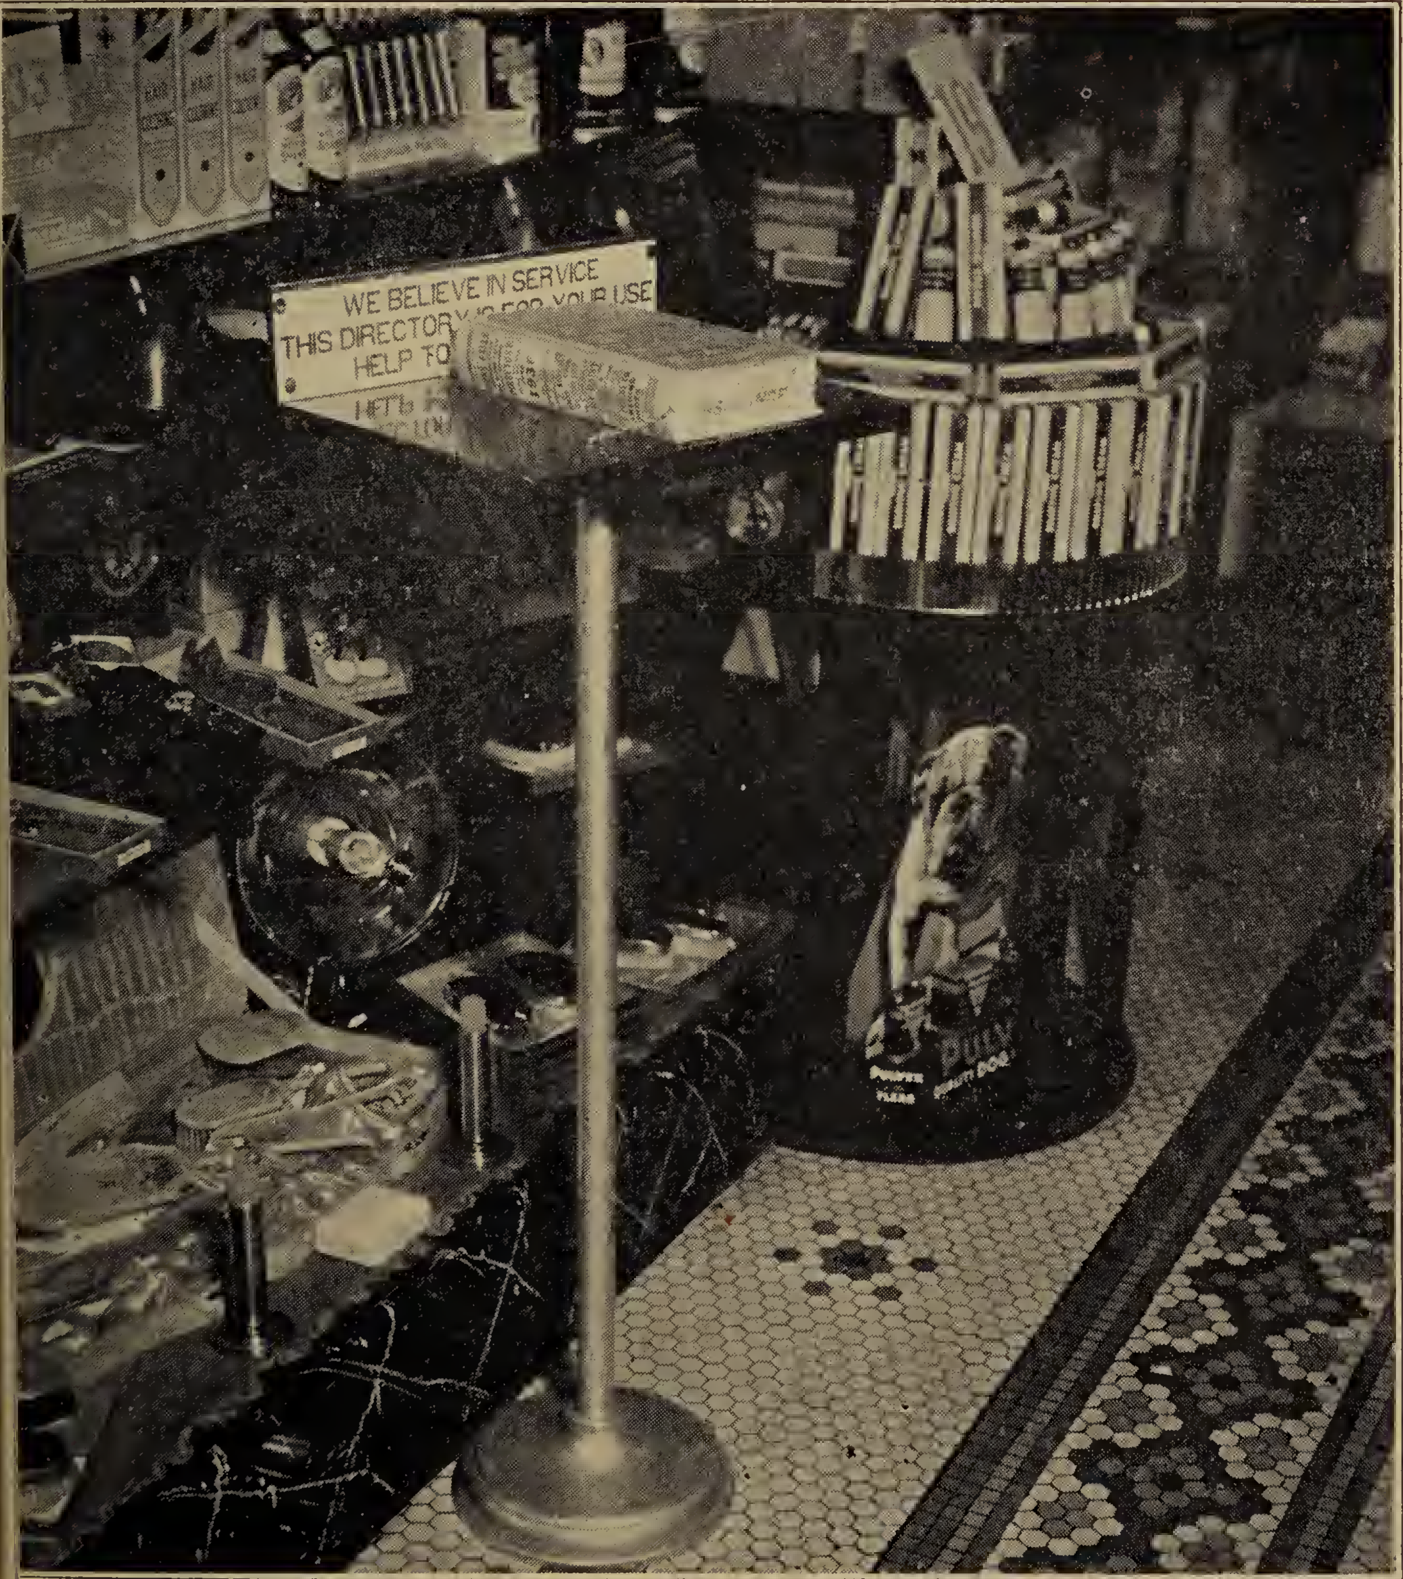
Directory Floor Stand

For Retail Establishments where there are congested conditions in Drug and other stores
"MODERNISTIC"
Directory Fastened to Stand by Two Chains Attached to Rings Through Top of Cover
Extra Placards of Bristol Board Furnished for Frequent Changing



The purpose of this stand is to save the merchant's time in handing out the Directory and watching it to see that it is not stolen, and to provide an exposed position where the public can use it without asking any questions.

The stand is made with a very heavy metal base so that it cannot be easily upset. The metal tube screws into the base, and into a socket made to fit underneath the wooden shelf. The metal parts of the stand are finished with aluminum bronze. The wooden part of the stand is made especially for this purpose, and is finished with mahogany stain, and is attractive.
